Their calendar systems, notably the Tzolk'in (260-day ritual calendar) and Haab' (365-day solar calendar), were highly accurate. The Mayans also tracked celestial movements meticulously, enabling them to predict solar and lunar eclipses and plan agricultural and religious activities accordingly.

Religious Beliefs and Practices

Gods and Mythology

Religion permeated every aspect of Mayan life. They worshipped numerous gods associated with nature, astronomy, and daily life, such as Kukulcán (the feathered serpent), Chaac (rain god), and Ixchel (moon goddess). Mythology explained the origins of the world, the importance of cycles, and the divine right of rulers.

Rituals and Ceremonies

Mayan religious practices included offerings, bloodletting, human sacrifices, and elaborate ceremonies held in temples and pyramids. These rituals aimed to appease gods, ensure agricultural fertility, and maintain cosmic order. Priests played a vital role as intermediaries between the divine and mortal worlds.

Society and Daily Life

Social Hierarchy

Mayan society was highly stratified, with the king or ahau at the top, followed by noble families, scribes, artisans, traders, farmers, and slaves. The ruler was considered divine, often associated with supernatural powers and responsible for maintaining cosmic harmony.

Early Mayan communities were primarily small villages engaged in agriculture, with maize cultivation forming the backbone of their economy. Over time, these settlements evolved into more complex societies, setting the stage for the rise of major city-states.

Classic Period (250?900 CE)

The period between 250 and 900 CE marked the zenith of Mayan civilization. During this era, the Mayans constructed monumental cities such as Tikal, Palenque, Copán, and Calakmul. These city-states were characterized by grand pyramids, elaborate palaces, and intricate ceremonial centers. This period saw significant advancements in political organization and cultural development, with city-states often vying for dominance through warfare and alliances.

Postclassic Period (900?1500 CE)

Following the decline of many southern cities around 900 CE, the Mayan civilisation shifted northward, with cities like Chichen Itza and Uxmal gaining prominence. The Postclassic period was marked by continued cultural achievements, but also increased warfare and political fragmentation. This era ended with the arrival of Spanish conquistadors in the 16th century, which ultimately led to the conquest and colonization of the region.

Society and Political Structure

City-States and Governance

Mayan society was organized into numerous independent city-states, each ruled by a king or k'uhul ajaw (holy lord). These rulers were both political leaders and religious figures, believed to be divine representatives on Earth. The city-states often engaged in alliances or conflicts, shaping the political landscape of the region.

Social Hierarchy

At the top of Mayan society were the nobility and ruling elite, including the king and his court. Below them were scribes, priests, artisans, and traders who played crucial roles in maintaining the cultural and economic fabric of the civilization. Farmers, laborers, and slaves formed the base of the social pyramid, providing the workforce necessary for large-scale construction and agriculture.

Origine et contexte historique du Popol Vuh

Les racines précolombiennes et la transmission orale

Le « Popol Vuh » trouve ses origines dans la tradition orale des peuples quiché, une ethnie maya qui habite principalement la région actuelle du Guatemala. Avant l'arrivée des conquistadors espagnols, ces peuples avaient développé une riche mythologie et une cosmogonie complexe, transmises oralement de génération en génération. La transmission orale était la principale méthode de conservation de ces récits, qui expliquaient la création du monde, l'origine des êtres humains, et les exploits des héros mythiques.

Il est important de noter que le « Popol Vuh » tel que nous le connaissons aujourd'hui a été compilé à l'aide de documents espagnols du XVI^e siècle, notamment par des scribes indigènes qui ont transcrit ces récits dans leur langue maternelle, le quiché, utilisant l'alphabet latin après la colonisation. Ce processus a permis de préserver une version écrite de ces mythes, tout en étant influencé par la langue et la culture coloniales.

La rédaction et la compilation au XVI^e siècle

La version du « Popol Vuh » que nous possédons aujourd'hui a été écrite principalement dans la première moitié du XVI^e siècle, peu après la conquête espagnole. Elle reflète une synthèse de traditions orales anciennes et de contextes historiques tumultueux. La rédaction a été probablement entreprise par des scribes indigènes sous la supervision ou l'influence des missionnaires, qui cherchaient à documenter et à comprendre la mythologie maya dans une optique chrétienne ou coloniale.

Cependant, le contenu du « Popol Vuh » reste profondément enraciné dans la vision indigène du monde. Il raconte la création de l'univers, la formation de la terre, des cieux, des montagnes, et des êtres vivants, notamment les humains. Il met également en scène des héros mythiques, tels que Tepeu, Gucumatz, et le héros mythologique Hunahpu, dont les exploits incarnent les valeurs, la spiritualité et l'identité maya.

- La création de l'humanité : Les premiers efforts pour créer des êtres humains échouent à cause de leur faiblesse ou de leur ingratitude. Finalement, les artisans divins réussissent à façonner des humains à partir du maïs, considéré comme la nourriture sacrée et la clé de l'identité maya.
- La mythologie des héros : Les récits des frères Hunahpu et Xbalanqué, célèbres pour leur victoire contre les forces du mal, illustrent la lutte entre le bien et le mal, ainsi que la victoire de la sagesse et du courage.
- La descente aux enfers et la quête de l'immortalité : Plusieurs épisodes décrivent la traversée du monde souterrain, mettant en scène des figures mythiques qui incarnent la dualité de la vie et de la mort.

La structure narrative et ses personnages clés

Le « Popol Vuh » est organisé en plusieurs sections, chacune mettant en avant des personnages et des événements spécifiques. Parmi les figures principales :

- Les dieux créateurs : Tepeu et Gucumatz, qui façonnent le monde à partir du chaos.
- Les héros mythiques : Hunahpu et Xbalanqué, célèbres pour leur bravoure et leur sagesse.
- Les êtres humains : Créés à partir du maïs, ils incarnent la relation sacrée entre l'homme, la nature, et le divin.
